Remarks:

These are really quite good — Let us distribute them to USIB members for info & comment as desired, with a date for a general discussion of them — The point should be made that they will serve as a basis for 1975's evaluation next summer — I'd also like IC to prepare a matrix for presentation & discussion

MEMORANDUM FOR: The Director

SUBJECT : FY 1975 KIQ Strategy Reports

1. As you know, there are 69 Key Intelligence Questions for FY 1975. Attached are draft Strategy Reports for 61 of those questions. The status of the remaining eight is as follows:

a. NIO/SP is still working on four (for KIQs 7, 8, 12 and 13). The enormous task of 11-3/8-74 slowed the strategic fraternity down for understandable reasons.

b. The three China KIQs (31, 32 and 33) are in abeyance. We will either have to get someone to serve as NIO in the very near future or make some form of alternate arrangements on this account.

c. [] is still working on KIQ 69

[] I asked him to take this on along with KIQ 68 on terrorism, since it cuts across so many accounts and all of the other NIOs were busy in their own parishes. (The Strategy Report for 68 is included in the attached package.)

2. These draft Strategy Reports have been sent to component heads in the USIB member agencies as they have been completed for their information, so that the line managers may get some indication of the total resource sums of the commitment checks their representatives have signed in the various working groups addressing these KIQs on an individual basis.

3. Save for the three China KIQs, the ones outstanding should be in hand by COB next Friday, though it will require an additional day or so to edit and reproduce them in a form analogous to the ones here included.

4. You can start taking the KIQs up before USIB as soon as you want to after that, though there are several considerations you should weigh and will have to decide. One is whether you want USIB to address these drafts or whether you personally would like some changes made in them before they are formally submitted for comment and concurrence by USIB principals. Also, they could be taken up at USIB in one single package or addressed serially in logically grouped packages of, say, ten or twenty. The former procedure would produce a very long session but if you want to inhibit too much discussion and carping, might be preferable. The latter would give honorable members more time to address and focus on specific Strategy Reports -- something you may or may not want them to have.
